Warner Hall - informs us that the original house was a high building of three stories and a basement, and together with a two-room addition (and the basement) included eighteen rooms. There were also on either side of the main house two detached brick houses of six and five rooms respectively, used for kitchen, laundry, servants rooms etc. At some time prior to Mr. Clarke's purchase the five room house was united to the main building by a two room addition, so that the whole of the mansion house proper contained 23 rooms. The 3 story part alone was about fifty by sixty feet square. Our informant states that he had heard the main building had first two gables in front but the roof was afterwards changed. The 5 room house to the right was destroyed by fire in 1841 - The remainder in 1849. - Va Hist Mag Vol. I. page 352
